

SCREAMS at the Beach

On Friday, October 9th, 2020, The Haunt Rater made a very special visit to Screams at the Beach out of Millville, Delaware. Screams at the Beach took a two-year hiatus and we were worried we would never be able to grace their presence once more. While 2020 has been a very trying and challenging year, we can say with much enthusiasm that the best thing to “rise from the ashes”, so to speak, during 2020 is SCREAMS AT THE BEACH! You may notice that the experience is a bit shorter, but it is totally worth attending.

Screams at the Beach has proven that sometimes less is more! What they have been able to accomplish at their new location is astounding and amazing. You would not know it to see it but to be able to experience the chills and thrills that only they can provide is out of this world! Our drive is a bit of a long one, being just over 4 hours to make the trip but we want to assure you that it is worth every penny and every minute of the drive. We promise, you will not be disappointed. The actors are top notch, never letting up on the scares, never knowing from where they will come.

They also have some new experiences, which we will not talk about as we want you to experience it for yourselves. All we can say is...you may be forced to “walk the plank”! Be prepared for an all-out experience that will leave you running for the hills, seeking shelter from the fears that you will be tested with as you traverse this nightmarish attraction. We are glad to have SCREAMS AT THE BEACH back for good and to see what progress they will make in the coming years. If you are able and willing, we highly suggest making the trip to visit them as they are more than worth it and they will not only scare the living hell out of you but they will provide much needed entertainment. This attraction is not for the faint of heart. It is a truly immersive and interactive experience that will leave you wanting more and more! This attraction has no where to go but up! Visit SCREAMS AT TH BEACH in 2020 for a truly horrifying experience! Still the #1 Haunted Attraction to see in Delaware! Don't Miss Out!
